The success of this program has made it possible to show its capabilities, letting users easily demo exploits with no need for any special information or knowledge. This is the first demo released for this program and includes ten exploits, with instructions on how to use them all within your terminal window. A demonstration video shows how the vulnerabilities are exploited in real life, matching up what you see with what's actually happening in-game. You can demo these exploits on either Local Area Network games or on the Internet.
